PETTIBONE CASE

Defendant in Poor Health as Result of an Operation, but Insists Upon Trial.

DIFFICULTY EXPECTED IN SE-CURING A JURY.

Boise, Ida., Nov. 26.-The work of securing a jury for the trial of George A. Judge Wood announced from the bench today that there would be no further delay. It is expected that Clarence Darrow and James H. Hawley, chief counsel for defense and state, respectively, will arrive from Rathdrum before court convenes here tomorrow, but even should they not be here, the examination of talesmen will

It was announced this morning by Judge Wood that the jury box would be filled this afternoon by members of the regular panel, but it was agreel between attorneys that no objection would be raised to postponing this action until tomorrow, and the court acted on their suggestions. The regular venire consists of thirty-five names, and when these are disposed of a special venire of at least 100 will be or-
